

Program Evaluation Technical Assistance
From the School of Government

The School of Government provides evaluation assistance in a variety of ways:

1. Email me. I am available via email or telephone conference call for any question – big or small – on any evaluation topic (evaluation plans, defining objectives, appropriate methods to use, survey or focus group use, etc.) See my email contact information below.
2. Come meet with me – or I’ll come meet with you. As a School of Government faculty member I can consult for free on evaluation projects, meet with staff, review plans/surveys/reports – generally help in any way I can. Longer term consulting is an option as well.
3. Attend training sessions. I can offer a training workshop where we flush out, step-by-step an evaluation plans for participants. These workshops are ideal for groups or individuals from any department in local government, state agencies or non-profits working on an actual evaluation plan, and will help guide them through the planning process. I am happy to present sessions at professional conferences in North Carolina.

Maureen Berner, Ph.D.
Professor of Government and Public Administration
School of Government, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
mberner@sog.unc.edu

